Principal's Message

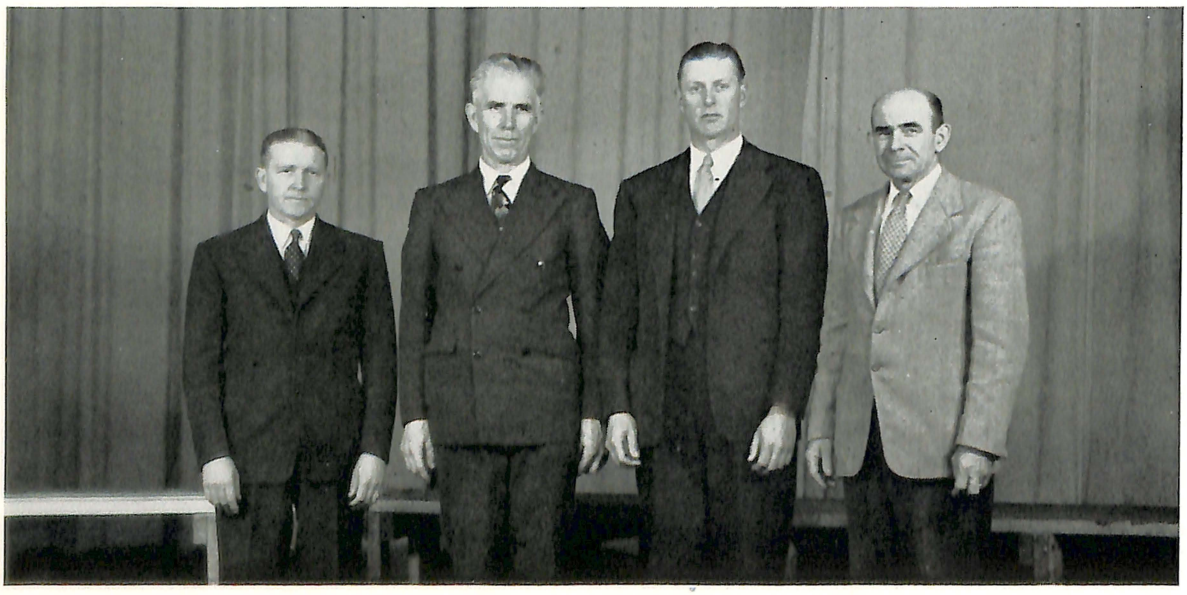

Members of the graduating class of Nineteen Hundred Forty-six have the privilege of arriving at the most critical period of their individual lives at the same time that the world has reached the threshold of the most momentous era in its recorded history.

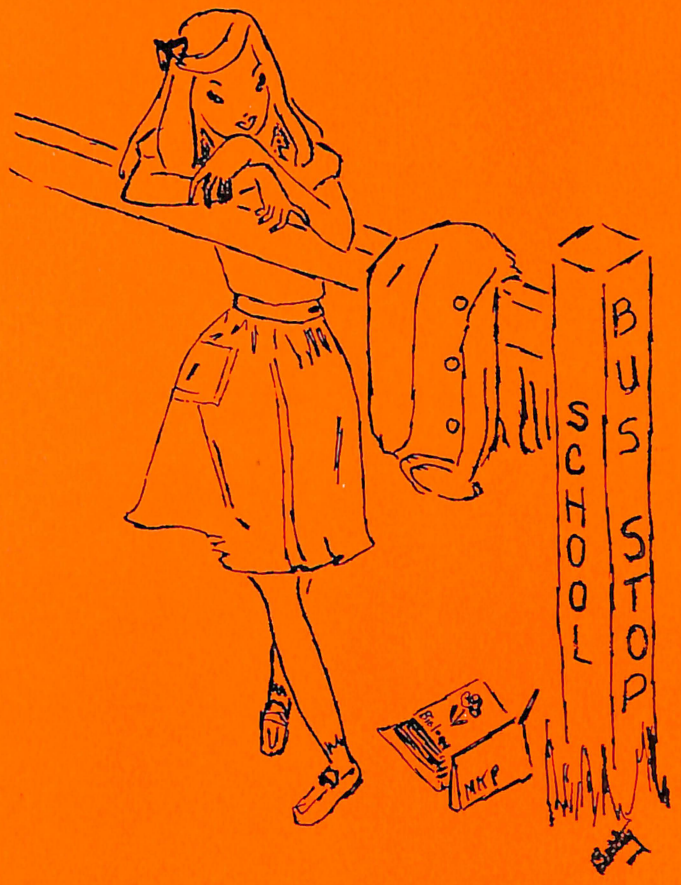

In this first full calendar year of release from bloodshed and tragedy of global war, the world has come face to face with problems, issues and possibilities which are tremendously important. Whether or not the right decisions are made in the next decade or two will mean the difference between whether the world shall enter a period of unfolding realization of the almost utopian possibilities which are now just beyond its grasp, or whether it shall lapse through inertia into a period of worse than Medieval Mediocrity.

The challenge to graduating high school students of this and the next few years is supreme. For the world to move forward in these next critical decades, not only is there needed tremendous energy because the work is hard and unusual and intensive preparation, because they way of world progress is new and untried, but also zealous consecration and spiritual devotion because the issues are so tremendous.

Yours is the privilege of meeting this challenge with the full realization of your obligations; your alma mater sends you to meet it with her benison.

Seniors — Class of '46

When the class of nineteen forty-six started out in their Freshman year they had fifty students. Some of them moved away, while quite a number of boys joined the armed forces. The population has dropped down to thirty-eight.

The Senior Supper was held on April twenty-six at the Hotel Claremont in Berkeley, California. There was a wonderful dinner and the majority enjoyed dancing.

The class surprised the whole school by not coming on May third, which they chose as their annual "Sneak Day." Some of the students enjoyed themselves very much in Playland at the Golden Gate Park in San Francisco.

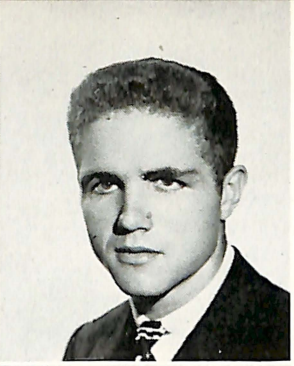

Not long after "the sneak" the Seniors had a swimming party at the local pool. After participating in a vigorous swim, a weiner roast was enjoyed by all.

The Baccalaureate service was held at the Community Church on June second. The address was well presented by the Reverend Fruhling.

The last social event of their exciting four years of high school was the Senior Ball, which was held on June eighth, at the High School Gym. The gym was decorated in a very beautiful theme of Spring.

Prophecy

T. D. Lowney's fantastic death proved beneficiary in bringing back those gruesome days at Vaca Hi. But first, a word about Lowney's death. His torn and battered body was found in the doorway of a local barber shop. Lowney just walked in and asked for a haircut. The shock must have been too great for the barber (Lester Krossa) as he was found the next day shaving all the dogs in the neighborhood.

The formal reunion was held at Sam's joint, a respectable Chinese restaurant run by Sam Marr. For professional purposes he changed his name to Samar and went into business with the capable assistance of chef Frank Altieri and cigarette girl Estelle Stottlemyer.

Suddenly in a cloud of dust and with a hardy "Hi Ho Sylvester" Red (Carl) Bruegmann, western hero of Gigantic Films, Inc., appeared in the doorway. Before he left he sang the beloved folk song, "Oklahoma Hills." J. Hilden, Red's partner, dropped in for a minute but had to rush off as he was trying to devise a way for Red to rescue a girl from a burning wagon traveling at top speed. Already two leading ladies, D. Schroeder and P. Cheechov, have been trampled on by Red's horse when he just couldn't hold on to them tight enough.

At this point Dr. H. B. Rogers and his wife (M. Jepsen) arrived. Dr. Rogers is well known for his theory of amputation in the treatment of ingrown toenails. Mrs. Rogers was a famous toe dancer until she tried Doc's treatments.

Everything was then interrupted by the entrance of T. Aguilera, Jr., A. Turner, and those three exotic "Dancing Redheads," R. Williams, R. Boyle, and R. Brown, all graduates of Miss Turner's school for girls at Elmira, where T. Aguilera, Jr., is instructor of physical education, boasting championship teams in ping-pong and tiddle-e-winks.

Mr. M. Coles and his wife (V. Escano) then joined our group. The only trouble the Coles have had in their six years of married life is due to Virge's profession, interior decorating. Morey is always entering the wrong apartment after not recognizing his own, owing to his wife's experiments with it.

Later the crowd danced to the music of Mr. Groulx's All Girl orchestra, composed entirely of Class of "46" graduates. Members are G. Dito, pounding the piano, I. Tortosa, plucking the bass, E. McCready, moaning into the sax, L. Rodriguez and I. Campos on the xylophone.

On the stroke of midnight it was announced that Lowney's death had been avenged by the electric chair. Mrs. Krossa (E. Azuar) and Mrs. Lowney (B. Kunkel) cried on each other's shoulders and then had a shot of buttermilk in memory of their late husbands' deaths.

Suddenly the walls trembled and in walked those motorcycle fiends, E. Hargis and C. Williams and their wives (G. Garlich and C. Shanks), who have worked out an act of riding side by side, their wives on their shoulders forming a pyramid, more or less—mostly less.

The well known career woman, Mrs. R. Hamilton (B. Leonard) was busy compiling facts for her new book "Forever Red" from Miss S. Giddens, proprietor of a string of Drive In restaurants from L. A. to Frisco.

After a brief talk on "Keeping Hubby in Line" by Mrs. F. Papin (V. Pena) lasting until well after 3 a.m., the Papins departed for their chicken ranch.

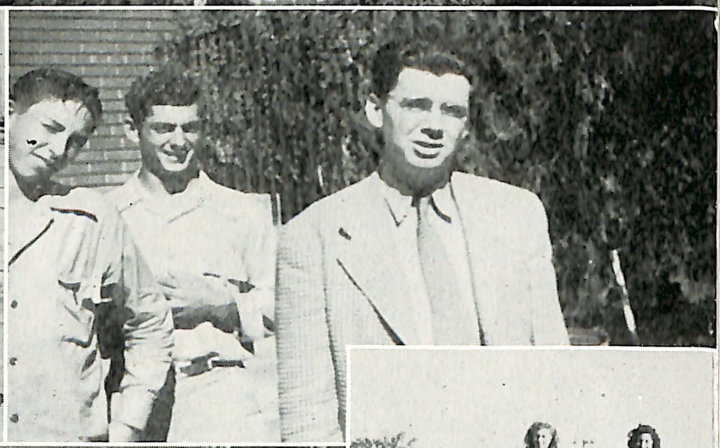

Mr. E. Oliver, assisted by Miss E. Paolini, has been doing extensive work on a new explosive, XYZ, which is fed to mosquitoes. The principal of XYZ is that it explodes in the insect after it has been digested. The only drawback is that it must be fed to the insect with an eyedropper. They demonstrated on a moth. The explosion proved too much for the frail brick building and left a gaping hole in the wall. The entire crowd seized the opportunity and passed out.

On May 17 the Junior-Senior banquet was held. The Seniors were served a very luxurious dinner by the Juniors.

In the fall the class officers elected were: President Charles Nulk, Vice President, Clifford Day, Secretary, Lillie Estepa, and Treasurer Donald Young.

Sophomores

The class officers for the fall semester were: President, Angelo Rodriguez; Vice-President, Robert Campardon; Secretary, Rose Aguero; Treasurer, Patsy Fox.

On October 4, the class held the annual Freshman Reception, which was their first social event of the year. It was well attended by both Sophomores and Freshmen. The members of the class had arranged a suitable program and further entertained their guests by serving doughnuts and apple cider.

The first major dance of the school year was the Sophomore Hop. A large number of students attended the Hop and were unanimous in voting it a most successful event.

The spring class officers were elected as follows: President, Robert Campardon; Vice-President, Robert Bruegmann; Secretary, Ella May Raper; and Treasurer, Claire McIntosh.

For the first league basketball game of the season, the Sophomores sold hot dogs and cokes. The game was well attended and the sales were quite profitable.

On October 26, the class held the annual return party for the Sophomores. Both classes attended. The main event for the evening was dancing. The refreshments that were enjoyed by all, were cokes, home-made cake; and ice cream.

The spring class officers elected were: President, Ann Walters; Vice-President, John Pine; Secretary, Mable Redman; Treasurer, Jackie Richetta.

Football

The 1945 football season was greeted by a squad of 25 spirited boys and a coach to match! The Vacaville High School was lucky to secure the services of Corporal John Giannoni, a well-experienced coach who has played lots of football.

The coach started off the season by telling his boys that to make a football team you must be in top shape, making it possible to last in a ball game. Every day of practice the coach carried out his exercising program, making sure that no one on his team was going to get hurt from being overplayed. It was hard work every day, but the way the coach gave it to us, it seemed like a pleasure to bear down and sweat it out. By the time of the first game, all the players were in excellent condition. During the season there was only one serious injury, and that was a broken wrist suffered by the Bulldogs' halfback, Perry.

The football team was of the lighter class this year, but was made up of well-built boys who were all fast on their feet. The Bulldogs won four games and lost two.

Bulldogs—40, Dixon—20; Bulldogs—25, Healdsburg 6; Bulldogs—31, Vallejo Ramblers—13; Bulldogs—19, Armijo—7; *Bulldogs—13, Rio Vista—20; *Bulldogs—0, Benicia—6.

Basketball

Vacaville's nineteen forty-six basketball season was a very prosperous one, with the C squad winning the Southern Section title, and the Varsity taking the County Championship. There was an ample amount of coaching in the basketball field with John Giannoni handling the A and B squads and "Pop" Williams coaching the C's.

The C team had a good record this season losing only three games out of fourteen. In most of their games they ran up one sided scores and always had their scoring well distributed among the players. Vacaville C team was the only squad in the league that was not defeated by league contenders. They won all six league games. Their biggest heartbreak was when they met Dixon in the county playoff and were defeated by only one point. The C squad was made up of all lower classmen, giving them a good chance to try for another championship in the coming season.

As the B's lost nearly all their games this year, many people thought them to be a lousy team. However, it wasn't their playing that made them lose. On the floor they were quick and fast but they lacked the substitutes to put in for their men. Most all the games were lost in the last quarter, as the fellows were completely exhausted by that time, having had no rest.

The Bulldog Varsity this year got what all ball clubs always dream about getting, and that's winning the championship. The A's won the Southern Section title with only one league defeat and in the playoff against Davis they won the most important game of the year by only one point, and with this win claimed the title of county champions. Winning this title meant a lot to the players, especially to the several seniors who were on the squad, for this may be the last basketball they will play.

The Ulatis

STAFF

At the outset of the school year, under the able direction of Mr. Boblet, the Seniors chosen to make up the Ulatis staff began to work on the job ahead of producing an interesting and informative sketch of the school year.

Walking into a Ulatis meeting was like walking into a beehive of activity. The painstaking work of finding the best place to put this or that picture was underway and the meeting of the deadline was being in due time accomplished.

As time wore on the Ulatis was more and more on the way to becoming an accomplished fact but this was not without obstacles. However, as Mallory said as he was ascending Mt. Everest, "Onward, ever onward."

Senior Play

The Senior Play, "Don't Take My Penny" was presented on April 9th at the Vacaville Theater before a full house. The smooth performance presented to the audience attested to the hard work of the cast and to the able directing of Mr. Record.

A number of plays were read by members of the class, reported upon and discussed. By popular vote, "Don't Take My Penny" was selected. The play books arrived, tryouts were held, and the play was soon under way. Arrangements were made for practice to be held three times a week during third period. During the last few weeks practice was also held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Penny, the movie struck young heroine, involved her whole family in a merry mix up when she decided that she was to play the part of Dimity West in "Stars In Her Hair." Eventually everything was straightened out and Penny remained at home with her family and her friends.

The Junior Red Cross has been quite active this last year, and even though the war is over, they still had very much to do.

All the teachers volunteered to help with the quotas. Utility bags, slippers, afghans, lap trays, and Christmas cards were a few of the items that were made during the year.

Christmas boxes were packed by volunteer students. They were for children in foreign countries, and held a few little toys, soap, a comb, barrettes for girls, airplanes for boys, wash towels, handkerchiefs, whistles, marbles, pencils, tablets, and yarn clown dolls, which were made by Betty Leonard.

The Junior Red Cross was quite successful when they raffled off a ham. They made approximately sixty-five dollars.

A committee was selected to go out to the Suisun-Fairfield Army Air Base to decorate trees and day rooms for the Christmas holidays. And decorations were also made for hospitals.

A group of Junior Red Cross members decorated a store window in town. It was to show the public the different types of packed boxes and to induce them to contribute money to the Junior Red Cross so that these boxes could be sent to service men in hospitals and overseas. The cost of each box was about a dollar and a half, and each contributing person could have his or her return address or just name only on a card enclosed in the package.

In January, a woman from the American Red Cross came to talk about and show examples of items made by the Junior Red Cross at other schools. She gave the students an idea of the good work being done by the Junior Red Cross all over the world, and emphasized that they will always be bringing joy to some unfortunate child, service man and others.

Spring Student Council

In addition to its regular duties, Vacaville High School has re-established track and baseball, sports silent throughout the war, on a competitive basis under the leadership of Coach Gustafson.

One of the duties of the spring Student Council is awarding letters and trophies. The Championship A and C Basketball teams will receive gold and silver basketballs, respectively.

Fall Student Council

The school year found the Student Council with many new people who were fast getting acquainted with their duties as officers of various organizations.

Among the various items voted on and passed by the Fall Student Council was the procurement of new uniforms for the Varsity Basketball squad and the sponsoring of a Student Body dance.

Band

The band started out the year rather uncertainly after losing a number of very fine players, but after a short time began to straighten out with some new members in the place of the graduates. Because of the number of football boys in the band, it did not play for the football games, but played for all league basketball games at home and away. They also played for Public Schools Week and graduation.

The Stardusters in their second year have been very busy. For the first semester the girls had to find time outside of school to practice as it was impossible to find school time. The club sang for the P.-T.A., Rotary, Eastern Star, Rebekahs, Saturday Club and Rainbow Girls the first semester.

Home Economics

The club began its year's activities with the initiation of seventeen members. Great enthusiasm to enter the club was shown by the freshman girls. The annual V.H.E.-F.F.A. dinner, sponsored jointly by the two organizations, was held in December and was attended by about sixty-five students and faculty. In January the girls prepared a luncheon for the district P.-T.A. meeting. The annual Vice Versa dance was held in March.

Future Farmers of America

With the motto of "Learning to do, doing to learn," the Future Farmers are learning the principles of scientific agriculture in the classroom and applying these principles on their home projects or in farm experience during the summer and fall.

Numerous field trips are also used to get the proper rural atmosphere and assist farmers in their operations.
